GOD OF FIRE

Prometheus stole fire from Zeus, the king of Olympian Gods, to bring it to mankind. Enraged Zeus ordered Prometheus to be bound to a desolate rock and attacked by an eagle. Prometheus was punished for his love of mortals. The above painting, Prometheus Bound, portrays his unwavering endurance of suffering. Prometheus is a courageous hero for mankind.

When the cigars are first made, they are in the embryonic stage in which their ultimate taste is still being developed. As they are aged, they go through the maturation. During the maturation, the filler, binder and wrapper leaves form a perfect unity and balance, and the taste of the combined tobaccos becomes even more enhanced. The cigars, which are aged for one year in an ideal environment, will taste far better than when they were first made. The taste of the cigars reaches its pinnacle as they are aged for longer years.
